Statement from Mayor Greg Ballard Upon Signing the 2012 Budget for the Consolidated City of Indianapolis, Marion County:

“For the fourth consecutive year, this administration has produced a responsibly balanced budget that funds the critical operations of government, protects taxpayers and sets Indianapolis on a strong fiscal course during uncertain economic times. The 2012 budget demonstrates our resolve to further strengthen public safety, restoring funding for our police helicopter and providing a new IMPD recruit class. This budget includes no tax increases, no borrowing and is fully funded without laying off police officers or firefighters.”
